ZIMBABWE ELECTORAL COMMISSION
2022 REPORT ON THE DELIMITATION EXERCISE

To His Excellency, the Honourable Dr E.D. Mnangagwa, President of the Republic of Zimbabwe and Commander-in-Chief of the Zimbabwe Defence Forces

May it Please Your Excellency to receive this delimitation report in terms of section 161(10) of the Constitution of Zimbabwe

Introduction

The Zimbabwe Electoral Commission (ZEC) is an Election Management Body established in terms of Section 238 of the Constitution of Zimbabwe. Its main function is to prepare for, conduct and supervise all elections and referendums in Zimbabwe. In terms of Section 239 (f) of the Constitution, the Commission is also given the function to delimit the country into electoral boundaries.

This report presents the wards and constituencies that were delimited by the Commission in 2022. The wards and constituencies are presented by province, each chapter highlighting the number of constituencies that have been delimited for the province and the names thereof, the number of wards that have been delimited for each local authority in the province and the boundary descriptions for the respective constituencies and wards. Provincial maps depicting constituency and ward boundaries are also attached as Annexures and form part of the delimitation report.

2022 Delimitation Exercise

Delimitation is the process of dividing the country into constituencies and wards for the purpose of election of persons to constituency seats in the National Assembly and to councils in Local Authorities. It plays a significant role by maintaining the proportionality of the number of representative seats allocated to an electoral district, as well as upholding the principle of equality of voting strength. The process aims at ensuring the cohesiveness and integrity of administrative districts, including building political, social and cultural ties between voters and their representatives.

The Constitution provides in Section 161(1) that once every ten years, on a date or within a period fixed by the Commission so as to fall as soon as possible after a population census the Zimbabwe Electoral Commission must conduct a delimitation of the electoral boundaries into which Zimbabwe is to be divided. The last delimitation was conducted in 2007/8 and resulted in the drawing of 210 House of Assembly Constituencies, 60 Senatorial Constituencies and 1 958 local authority wards. The delimited electoral boundaries remained in use during the 2008, 2013 and 2018 harmonised elections. However, due to population dynamics and changes in landuse since the last delimitation exercise there has been growing need for constituencies and wards to be redrawn to respond to these changes.

Following the Population and Housing Census (PHC) held from 21st to 30th April 2022, the Commission, in line with Section 161(1) of the Constitution, and by Notice published in the Government Gazette of 24th of May 2022 announced its intention to commence the delimitation exercise. The 30th of May 2022 was set as the date of closure of the voters' roll for purposes of the conduct of delimitation.

2.0 Factors Influencing Delimitation

The Commission was guided by the provisions of Section 161 of the Constitution in conducting delimitation.

Subsections (3) and (4) of Section 161 specify that the boundaries of constituencies and wards must be such that, so far as possible, at the time of delimitation, equal numbers of voters are registered in each constituency within Zimbabwe and in each ward of the local authority concerned. However, the Commission is allowed to depart from this general principle in Section 161(6) although it is to ensure that no constituency or ward may have more than 20% more or fewer registered voters than the other such constituencies or wards.

Secondly the straddling of ward boundaries is not allowed in delimiting electoral boundaries. Section 161(5) of the Constitution states that the Commission must ensure that no ward is divided between two or more local authority areas. The Commission must also ensure that no ward is divided between two or more constituencies.

Section 161(6) of the Constitution further states that due consideration be given to:

- Physical features;
- The means of communication within an area;
- The geographical distribution of registered voters;
- Any community of interest as between registered voters;
- Existing electoral boundaries; and
- Population.

3.0 Voter Population for the Delimitation Exercise

As already stipulated, delimitation seeks to ensure equality of voting strength and the key determinant considered for the realisation of this objective is the number of registered voters. To ensure potential voters were afforded the opportunity to register, the Commission embarked on two phases of mobile voter registration. The first and second phases of mobile voter registration were conducted in February and April 2022, respectively. The voters' roll for delimitation closed on 30 May 2022 and as at that date, the country had 5 804 376 registered voters compared to 5 612 464 registered voters in 2007/8. An inspection of the voters roll was conducted to allow voters to inspect the voters' roll and to make corrections where applicable before the national voter population was derived. The table below represents the National and Provincial Voter Population totals as at 30 May 2022.

Ser	Province	Total Voter Population
1	Bulawayo Metropolitan	270 938
2	Harare Metropolitan	952 102

A notice outlining the National, Provincial and Local Authority registered voter population figures used for purposes of determining the constituencies and wards that Zimbabwe was to be divided into was published in the print media on the 16th of October 2022 and is annexed to this report (Annexure A).

3.1 Zimbabwe's Adult Population Per Province

The national adult population in Zimbabwe according to the 2022 ZimStats National Population and Housing Census Preliminary Report is 8 052 216. The national adult population disaggregated according to provinces and sex is as stipulated in the table below.

3.2 Comparison of Zimbabwe's Adult Population to the Registered Voter Population

A comparison of the registered voter population figures and the National Population and Housing Census figures shows that the total number of registered voters represent approximately 72% of the adult population. The table below shows the comparison of Zimbabwe's adult population and the number of registered voters per province.

Ser	Province	Adult Population	Registered Voter Population	Percentage

4.0 Delimitation Formula

4.1 National Assembly Constituencies

The Constitution in s160(1) stipulates that the Zimbabwe Electoral Commission must divide Zimbabwe into 210 constituencies for the purposes of electing Members of Parliamient. To achieve this, the total number of registered voters in the whole country was divided by 210 constituencies. This yielded a national average of 27 640 registered voters per constituency. The figure obtained satisfies s161(3) of the Constitution which states that the "The boundaries of constituencies must be such that, so far as possible, at the time of delimitation equal numbers of voters are registered in each constituency within Zimbabwe". Thus delimitation must ensure equality of voting strength in each constituency. From a practical point it is not possible to have equal number of registered voters in each constituency since the population is not uniformly distributed across the country due to factors such as physical factors, landuse, migration etc. The Constitution recognises the impracticability of having equal number of voters in each constituency by allowing the Commission to depart from this requirement within a stipulated margin. In this case the Constitution in s161(6) stipulates that ...."no constituency may have more than 20% more or fewer registered voters than other such constituencies". The constitution in s161(6)a-f also lists factors that need to be considered when delimiting since they are important during the exercise.

Based on the provision of s161(6) the Zimbabwe Electoral Commission then calculated the 20% deviation from the national average voter registration expected in each constituency which was 27 640. This yielded a deviation of 5 528 voters. Since the average number of registered voters was regarded as a stable benchmark against which delimitation of constituencies was conducted, the deviation figure was added to the national average to deteremine the maximum number of registered voters that a constituency delimited would contain i.e., 33 168. In contrast, the deviation figure was subtracted from the national average to determine the minimum number of allowable registered voters per constituency. This yielded a minimum of 22 112 voters. Thus, based on the provisions of s161(6) any constituency delimited in Zimbabwe was expected to fall within the minimum and maximum thresholds.

4.2 Local Authority Wards

To determine the number of registered voters in each of a local authority, the constitution in s161(4) stipukates that "The boundaries of wards must be such that, so far as possible, at the time of delimitation equal numbers of voters are registered in each ward of the local authority concerned". Thus, the Zimbabwe Electoral Commission divided the total number of registered voters in each local authority by the number of members to be elected to the local authority concerned which is the number of wards per local authority. This yielded an average number of registered bvoters for the concerned local authority. Since the 20% deviation from the average also applies to wards, the Zimbabwe Electoral Commission determined the minimum and maximum allowable number of registered voters based on the average for each localm authority. For example Bulawayo Municipality had 270 938 registered voters as at 30 May 2022 and has 29 wards. The total number of registered voters was divided by the total number of wards to yield an average of 9 343. Allowing a twenty per cent deviation yielded a maximum threshold of 11 212 registered voters and a minimum threshold of 7 474 voters. Thus, any ward delimited for Bulawayo municipality was expected to fall within the minimum and maximum thresholds.

NB: The thrust of the Commission was to ensure fair regional representation, adherence to national objectives, minimise prejudice across provinces, maintain equity and equality as well as stability of existing electoral boundaries.

To achieve this, the voter population within each Province was divided by the number of existing constituencies in the respective Province. Once the average number of registered voters per constituency at provincial level was determined, it was then compared to the minimum and maximum national thresholds. In instances where the average number of registered voters per constituency within a Province was below the minimum national threshold, the number of constituencies was adjusted to a point where the minimum national lower threshold was adhered to.

Conversely, where the average number of registered voters per constituency within a Province was almost equal or exceeded the national maximum threshold, the number of constituencies was adjusted to a point where the maximum national threshold was adhered to provided that the number of constituencies did not exceed two hundred and ten (210).

Using the above formula Harare Metropolitan Province was allocated 30 constituencies due to the high number of registered voters hence it could not maintain the previous 29 constituencies without compromising the 20% allowable maximum threshold. Conversely Matabeleland South Province was allocated 12 constituencies due to the low number of registered voters hence it could not maintain the previous 13 constituencies without compromising the 20% allowable miminum threshold.

4.3 Other factors considered in the delimitation exercise

i) Population density and distribution: The population density and distribution vary widely across the country. In this case, urban, peri-urban and mining areas are characterised by dense population while most rural areas (A1) including former commercial farming areas (A2), purchase areas and wildlife conservancies are characterised by sparsely distributed population with low density. In terms of section 161(6) (c) and (f) of the Constitution, the delimitation of wards and constituencies should consider distribution of registered voters and the population of a particular area. To satisfy this legal provision, a sliding scale approach was applied in which the minimum threshold was applied in sparsely populated areas (Bulawayo and Matabeleland Provinces) while the upper threshold was used in densely populated areas (Harare Metropolitan Province).

iii) Physical Features and means of Communication: Boundaries of constituencies and wards were delimited guided by natural features such as mountain ranges and rivers including manmade features such as roads and dams. This was done to ensure serviceability of the ward and that voters easily access their polling stations in line with section 161(6) (a) and (b) of the Constitution.

iv) Community of interest: As far as possible communities with the same interest were contained in the same ward in line with section 161(6)(d) of the Constitution. To ensure that the constitutional voter population thresholds were met there were instances where the Commission resorted to mixing landuses and communities with different interests. For instance, peri-urban, rural and urban communities were combined in a constituency to comply with set thresholds. During the delimitation of wards, it was observed that there were several areas whose landuse had changed around most urban areas. The following areas were converted from commercial farms to peri-urban areas:

- Caledonia, Crowhill, Sally Mugabe, Glenforest, Solomio (Goromonzi RDC);
- Whitecliff (Zvimba RDC);
- Mount Pleasant Heights, Glendale and Concession (Mazowe RDC);
- Woodlands (Vungu RDC);
- Lower Rangemore (Umguza, RDC),
- Garikai/Hlalanikhule in all the 32 towns,
- Nyatsime, Seke, Dunotar, Cardor (Manyame RDC),
- Torwood (Zibagwe),
- Victoria Range (Masvingo RDC);
- Lion's Den (Murereka) (Makonde);
- Macheke (Murehwa RDC);

- Johannesburg (Chegutu RDC);
- Gimboki (Mutare RDC); and
- Spitzkop (Gwanda RDC).

The following areas are being converted from communal area to urban/peri-urban:

1. Seke(Manyame RDC);
2. Nemamwa (Masvingo RDC);
3. Gutu-Mpandawana (Gutu RDC);
4. Murambinda (Buhera RDC);
5. Domboshawa (Goromonzi RDC);
6. Checheche and Kondo (Chipinge RDC);
7. Mutoko (Mutoko RDC);
8. Murewa (Murewa RDC);
9. Kotwa and Nyamapanda (Mudzi RDC);
10. Chapoto (Mbire RDC); and
11. Jotsholo Cross Dete (Kusile RDC).

These areas still fall under the jurisdiction of Rural District Councils.

v) Existing electoral boundaries: During the delimitation process, the Commission took into account existing electoral boundaries of wards and constituencies in line with section 161(6)(e) of the Constitution. In some instances, electoral boundaries of local authorities and constituencies were maintained where possible. However, in instances where the number of registered voters in a ward or a constituency failed to meet the minimum threshold or exceeded the maximum threshold, the boundaries were adjusted by annexing or moving the adjacent polling areas until the thresholds were met. This resulted in changes in the layout/shape of some wards and constituencies. (See Annexure C).

A voter education programme to inform the general public of the new electoral boundaries and polling stations will be conducted after delimitation.

5.0 Coordinate system and scale used in delimiting electoral boundaries

In delimiting electoral boundaries two common coordinate systems were used i.e., Geographic and Projected. The Geographic coordinate system which uses Latitude and Longitude was adopted for mapping at the national level while the projected coordinate system (in this case Universal Transverse Mercator (UTM) coordinate system) based on the Modified Clarke 1880 spheroid (SA) was used for mapping electoral boundaries at the subnational level e.g., local authority level. Zimbabwe falls into two UTM zones which are divided by the 30^0 line of longitude i.e., Zone 35 and 36 south of the equator. Coordinates were therefore measured and recorded using these UTM zones. In this delimitation report, the coordinates were used to provide precise location of electoral boundaries to compliment the textual descriptions. In the text, coordinates were only used in instances where there were no describable features (i.e., distinct physical or man-made features). All electoral boundary maps i.e, national, provincial and local authority level have a scale bar labelled with its ground length for easy interpretation.

6.0 Outcome of the Delimitation

In general, no voters were moved from their polling stations. Registered voters in each ward and constituency will vote at their usual polling stations although their ward number or name of constituency may have changed.

It is also important to note that:

- Wards and constituencies in sparsely populated areas are larger in aerial extent since they have to draw their population from large areas due to low population densities e.g., wildlife conservancies and large commercial farming areas. Conversely, wards and constituencies in densely populated areas are relatively small in aerial extent e.g., peri-urban and urban areas.
- The shape, aerial extent and distribution of some wards and constituencies changed due to variation in the distribution of registered voters in provinces. Notable changes were observed in the following provinces:
    1. Bulawayo: Seven constituencies were reconfigured and renamed as follows: Bulawayo North, Cowdry Park, Emakhandeni-Luveve Entumbane-Njube, Lobengula-Magwegwe Mpopoma-Mzilikazi and Pelandaba-Tshabalala.

2. Harare: Three constituencies were created from Harare South constituency namely Churu, Harare South and Hunyani. An additional constituency was created in Epworth resulting in Epworth North and Epworth South Constituencies. Harare North was reconfigured and renamed to Hatcliffe constituency.
3. Manicaland Province: Musikavanhu and Chipinge West were merged to create Chipinge west Constituency. The collapsed constituency formed Chikanga Constituency after Dangamvura-Chikanga was split due to high population.
4. Mashonaland East: Three constituencies namely Chikomba Central, Chikomba East, Chikomba West were reconfigured due to low registered voter population. As a result Chikomba Central was collapsed and two Constituencies remain namely Chikomba East and Chikomba West.
5. Masvingo Province: Gutu North was collapsed and merged with other existing constituencies due to low registered voter population which failed to meet the minimum threshold for a constituency. However the collapsed constituency was replaced by the creation of a new Chiredzi Central Constituency. In the same vein Zaka East and Zaka West were collapsed and reconfigured to form a new Zaka South Constituency. One of the collapsed constituencies was replaced by the creation of a new Mwenezi North constituency. In effect the Province retained its previously allocated 26 constituencies.
6. Matabeleland South: The province had very low numbers of registered voters therefore it was allocated 12 constituencies after Bulilima East was collapsed to meet the minimum threshold.
7. Midlands province: Mberengwa South constituency was collapsed and three constituencies now remain i.e., Mberengwa East, Mberengwa West and Mberengwa Central. This collapsed constituency was replaced by the creation of a new Mkoba North constituency.

7.0 Polling Station Codes

The following section outlines the meaning of polling area codes used to assign voters to wards. The polling codes are based on the type of local authority i.e, whether it is Rural or Muncipality/Town Council.

Rural District Council Polling Codes

86	00	ZVI	24	01
District Code	RDC	DistrictName	WardNumber	Position in Ward

Urban Polling Codes

Municipality Polling Station Codes

63	01	HRE	08	01
District Code	Municpality	District Name	Ward Number	Position in Ward

Town Council Polling Station Codes

32	01	NTC	01	03
District Code	Town Council	District Name	Ward Number	Position in Ward

As a result of the aforegoing, the following wards and constituencies were delimited:

Wards

Province	Local Authorities	No of Wards
Bulawayo	1	29
Harare	3	77
Manicaland	10	260
Mashonaland Central	10	238
Mashonaland East	11	229
Mashonaland West	14	234
Masvingo	9	242
Matabeleland North	10	197
Matabeleland South	10	168
Midlands	14	296
Grand Total	92	1 970

For the delimitation of wards, registered voters per polling station area were used to ensure that, in so far as possible, wards have more or less equal numbers of registered voters across the local authority. The polling station area defines the area where voters are drawn from. Within a local authority, three scenarios existed that is: a) a ward had registered voter population below the minimum threshold, b) a ward had registered voter population within the threshold, and c) a ward had registered voter population above the maximum threshold.

a) In instances where the registered voter population was below the minimum threshold, either a whole polling station area or village adjacent to the nearest ward boundary was annexed to the respective ward. This was to ensure that community of interest was maintained.

b) Where it was not possible to meet the minimum registered voter threshold for a ward by annexing a polling station area/village, two or more wards were merged to form one. In instances where wards were merged, the ward that had the highest number of registered voters retained its name/number. The remaining ward number(s) were then assigned to wards that emerged from the split of oversubscribed wards.

c) Where the voter population was above the maximum threshold for a particular local authority, the ward was split into two or more ward(s). After splitting the ward, one of the wards retained the name of the original ward while the other ward(s) was numbered or named based on the names/numbers of the collapsed ward(s) in a non-sequential way. This resulted in ward numbering changing/disregarding sequence but maintaining existing ward numbers in the rest of the local authority.

6.0 Administrative arrangements for delimitation

To facilitate efficient execution of the delimitation exercise the Commission established administrative and operational structures at district, provincial and national level in the form of delimitation committees. This set up enabled the participation of stakeholders such as voters, political parties and other interested bodies likely to be affected by the delimitation exercise as provided in Section 37A of the Electoral [Chapter 2:13].

The delimitation committees comprised of technical members drawn from the Zimbabwe Electoral Commission (ZEC), Local Authorities, Department of Spatial planning, Zimbabwe National Geospatial Agency (ZINGSA), Zimbabwe Statistical Agency (ZimStat), Ministry of Local Government and Public Works, Ministry of Justice Legal and Parliamentary Affairs, Ministry of Lands, Agriculture, Fisheries, Water and Rural Resettlement and State Universities among others. These technical members as well as the other committee members underwent technical trainings on the use of Geographical Information System (GIS) for delimiting wards and constituencies. The trainings were meant to capacitate participants with GIS technical skills which are essential in the actual conduct of the delimitation exercise.

Delimitation Committees were responsible for the delimitation of wards and constituencies within their respective areas as guided by sections 160 and 161 of the Constitution. District delimitation teams were responsible for delimiting ward boundaries while the provincial teams were responsible for creating constituencies.

The national delimitation committee supervised all delimitation activities carried out at district and provincial level. The supervision entailed attending delimitation presentations at districts and provinces for progress update, guidance and feedback, monitoring and evaluation among others. The Commissioners assumed an oversight role on the entire delimitation exercise.

CHAPTER 1

BULAWAYO METROPOLITAN PROVINCE

The total number of registered voters in the province as at 30 May 2022 was 270 938. This is 42 521 voters less than the 2007/8 total registered voters.

Bulawayo Municipality

Bulawayo has 29 wards. In order to determine the voter population thresholds permissible for the Municipality wards, the total number of registered voters was divided by 29 wards resulting in an average of 9 343. A twenty per cent variance from the ward average was then determined resulting in a maximum voter threshold of 11 212 and a minimum threshold of 7 474 voters per ward for the Municipality. Thus, any such ward delimited was expected to fall within the minimum and maximum thresholds.

The number of registered voters in each ward is given below:

National Assembly Constituencies

In order to determine the number of National Assembly Constituencies to allocate to the Province, the total number of registered voters for Harare Metropolitan Province which is 952 102 was divided by 29 to ascertain whether the average voter population for a constituency in the Province adhered to the constitutional thresholds. Compared to all other provinces, Harare province's average voter population for a constituency of 32 831 was above the national minimum and average voter population thresholds allowable in terms of the Constitution but less than the maximum threshold. For this reason, the Commission allocated Harare province an extra National Assembly Constituency seat to bring the total number of allocated constituencies for the province to 30. The number of registered voters for the 2022 delimitation is 185 624 more than the 766 478 recorded during the 2007/8 delimitation. The Town Council has 10 wards. The total number of registered voters was 17 304 as at 30 May 2022. This is 7 988 voters more than the 2007/8 total.

In order to determine the voter population thresholds permissible for the Town Council wards, the total number of registered voters in the Town Council was divided by 10 wards resulting in an average of 1 730 voters per ward. A twenty per cent variance from the ward average was then determined resulting in a maximum voter threshold of 2 076 and a minimum threshold of 1 384 voters per ward for the Town Council. Thus, any such ward delimited was expected to fall within the minimum and maximum thresholds.

The total number of registered voters in each ward is listed below:

CHAPTER 5

MASHONALAND EAST PROVINCE

The total number of registered voters in the Province as at 30 May 2022 was 641 668. This is 17 038 voters more than the 2007/8 total. The Province has 9 districts and 23 National Assembly constituencies. The wards and the number of registered voters in each of them are listed below:

Chikomba Rural District Council

The Rural District Council has 30 wards. It had a voter population of 55 035. This is 17 963 voters less than the 2007/8 total. There have been changes in the existing ward boundaries.

In order to determine the voter population thresholds permissible for the Rural District Council wards, the total number of registered voters in the Rural District Council was divided by 30 wards resulting in an average of 1 834 voters per ward. A twenty per cent variance from the ward average was then determined resulting in a maximum voter threshold of 2 202 and a minimum threshold of 1 468 voters per ward for the Rural District Council. Thus, any such ward delimited was expected to fall within the minimum and maximum thresholds.

In order to determine the voter population thresholds permissible for the Rural District Council wards, the total number of registered voters in the Rural District Council was divided by 35 wards resulting in an average of 3 260 voters per ward. A twenty per cent variance from the ward average was then determined resulting in a maximum voter threshold of 3 912 and a minimum threshold of 2 608 voters per ward for the Rural District Council. In order to determine the voter population thresholds permissible for the Rural District Council wards, the total number of registered voters in the Rural District Council was divided by 25 wards resulting in an average of 2 868 voters per ward. A twenty per cent variance from the ward average was then determined resulting in a maximum voter threshold of 3 442 and a minimum threshold of 2 294 voters per ward for the Rural District Council. Tongogara Rural District Council

The Rural District Council has 24 wards. The total registered number of voters was 41 901 as at 30 May 2022. The published figure for the Rural District Council was 42 039 registered voters which is different from the actual total voter population for the Rural District Council after delimitation which was 41 901. This difference was because the published district boundary erroneously included a portion of Takawira Rural District Council ward 18 with 138 registered voters which were taken as part of ward 1 of Tongogara Rural District Council. This figure figure was subtracted from the published voter population figure for the Rural District Council. There have been changes to the existing ward boundaries.

In order to determine the voter population thresholds permissible for the Rural District Council wards, the total number of registered voters in the Rural District Council was divided by 24 wards resulting in an average of 1 746 voters per ward. A twenty per cent variance from the ward average was then determined resulting in a maximum voter threshold of 2 096 and a minimum threshold of 1 396 voters per ward for the Rural District Council. Thus, any such ward delimited was expected to fall within the minimum and maximum thresholds.

In order to determine the voter population thresholds permissible for the Town Council wards, the total number of registered voters in the Town Council was divided by 10 wards resulting in an average of 2 535 voters per ward.
